

PCB PROVIDER STATUS APPLICATION

Provider Status means an organization has entered into an agreement with PCB to offer a certain number of educational trainings. Trainings eligible for PCB approval must be relevant to the field of addiction, using a formal structure and held in the state of Pennsylvania. A predetermined fee is set by PCB for granting approval of these trainings. The Provider pays the fee at the start of the one year agreement period. Each training must be submitted to PCB for review and approval at least 30 days prior to the scheduled training date. PCB reserves the right to approve or deny education based on a full review of content and instruction.

There are many benefits to becoming a Provider with PCB. You will be assured of offering training that all professionals must acquire for recertification and you may advertise that your training is PCB Approved. In addition, your training will be listed free of charge on the PCB website at www.pacertboard.org. Certified professionals look to PCB's Educational Providers as their first choice in selecting training for recertification.

To apply, simply submit the PCB Education Provider Status Agreement form and appropriate fee based on the selected number of trainings. Upon review and approval of your agreement, you will receive an assigned PCB Provider Status number which you will use and refer to throughout the one year agreement period.

The contact person listed on your PCB Education Provider Status Agreement form is the only person to whom PCB will send approval letters and other information regarding training approval, and is the only person who should submit training approval applications to PCB. If your contact person changes, inform PCB in writing. Prior to the end of the agreement year, you will receive information on renewing your Provider Status. Each training must be submitted with the Education Approval Form.
